Theater Arts Camp

June 11 – July 27, 2012

2012 THEME: SURVIVING THE END OF THE WORLD ON A DAILY BASIS

Director: Keith Whipple

For ages: 12-18

Offered Weekly: Monday-Friday: 9 am- 4 pm

Evanston West | 2008 Dempster Street | Evanston, IL 60202

Join us this summer for a Creative Arts experience. Film, TV, video-games, books, and comics bombard kids with stories of crisis and reinvention. Theater Arts Camp provides opportunities for teens to explore existing stories of doom and create their own imaginative characters, worlds, and events using:

.....
storytelling | design | production | theater | dance | videography | music | art
.....

Camp will focus on developing the skills necessary to cope with fear and anxiety and will allow opportunities to practice strategies such as adopting a positive outlook, identifying and understanding emotions, taking on the perspective of others, flexibility and problem-solving.

Join our team of creative arts therapists for a summer of discovery and adventure - all tailored to your child's unique abilities and imagination.

NOTE: Theater Arts Camp is an inclusive camp experience, open to adolescents with special needs (In the past, this has included Autism, Asperger's NVLD, ADHD, OCD and Depression).

Cost: $290 per week
